JERUSALEM, Israel – Continued threats and flying missiles from Iran make it difficult for Israelis who are attempting to go about their daily lives, and those directly affected by the strikes are trying to recover. CBN News spoke with one survivor after a missile hit his home.-Julie Stahl

"It was pinned to the wall and covered in blood," he told us. "So, I threw my kid, my little one, the seven-week-old baby, over my shoulder and lifted the cabinet off of her with one hand. (I) Tried to make a way for my wife and my kid (who is not even 3 years old) to get out of the shelter."

"When I say that we are only alive by the grace of God, I mean that, because there's no luck, there's no physical explanation that I could imagine for us taking a direct missile hit and all six of us being alive at the end of it. And we all made it out, effectively uninjured. It's just statistically, physically – I don't understand how," he reflected.

Be aware: An insidious Trojan Horse has snuck into Congress that would allow foreseeable exploitation to go unchecked for a decade.

Buried deep in a government budget bill, a 10-year moratorium on state Artificial Intelligence regulations has been proposed. This means that, for the next decade, states will be barred from passing any laws that promote safety in the AI space.

AI is already being weaponized for sexual exploitation in horrifying ways, including:

- “Nudifying apps” that strip clothes off photos of women
- Predators creating AI-generated child sexual abuse material, or teens creating this material of their peers
- AI chatbots engaging in sexually explicit conversations with minors, or entertaining child sexual abuse roleplay
- Traffickers exploring AI tools to groom and sextort minors at scale

It is imperative that states be allowed to act swiftly to protect constituents from these exploding dangers. AI is moving fast. The government must move fast too.

The proposed 10-year moratorium on AI regulation is willfully reckless, and will only allow an already dangerous space to become even more dangerous.
